Małgosia and Sébastien design and make jewelry together in Nice, France.

Names of their jewelry collections allude to iconic places on the French Riviera.

“Less is (the new) more”

Małgosia has brought into the team her innate creativity along with a long-standing and deeply rooted passion for art, design, literature, cinema and fashion, which have always fuelled her ideas. Despite the profusion of inspiration sources, she has a very clear idea of what she wishes to communicate through her designs.

“Art must remain a fight”

Sébastien is a painter by trade, although his interests encompass also graphic art, sculpture and fashion. For Sébastien, inspiration comes from working and handling different materials. Thus, he comes up with the majority of ideas for new designs while experimenting in his studio.

Jewelry created by the two is the product of the synergy between their multiple influences and methods of work. From this diversity of backgrounds and influences, new collections and unique pieces emerge. Despite their diversity, these minimalistic bracelets, rings and necklaces have a common denominator: they are a celebration of the modernist spirit.

Małgosia and Sébastien design and make their «wearable sculptures» for men and women who look for “understated statement jewelry”, unique and timeless pieces that are sophisticated in their simplicity.
